(1)	A kakavei	The kakavei net
(2)	Vaamatatopo na maa taba	The preparation of the things (you need to make a pair of kakavei nets):
(3)	Momohu kona nia kave tabae tau paku an, a kave a beera ge a rutaa	First, think about what kind of net you are going to make, a large net or a small one.
(4)	Beo hum bona kavara, erau ean antee vai tea kaokao a maamihu taba na kakavei tean.	When this part is finished, then you can go ahead with all the things of your kakavei.
(5)	Kona ni amaa humhum na kakavei.	Think of the parts of the kakavei net.
(6)	A hena na maa taba paku na kakavei:	The names of the things for making a kakavei net:
(7)	1. koverau (baoru) – 2	two bent koverau bamboos[1]
(8)	2. kapikapis – 8	eight wedges (made of wood)
(9)	3. kara raviana – 6	six strings made of raviana vines[2]
(10)	4. toorana (naono) – 2	two toorana poles to which the bamboo is tied
(11)	5. sunsun (miimiana) – 2	two sunsun poles of miimiana palm wood[3],
(12)	6. kara baneo ge kara kave – bero	many strings made of fibres of the young breadfruit tree or the net vine[4]

(13)	7. tavara (kururu) – 1	a small rectangular piece of kururu bamboo (2 x 4 inches) that is used to measure the size of the meshes of the net
(14)	8. hihiana (o koverau o rutaa)	a net needle (made of a small piece of koverau bamboo)
(15)	Bean tau paku a kakavei,	When you are about to make a kakavei,
(16)	evei amaa taba toro vaamatatopo an.	these are the things that you must prepare.
(17)	(1) O buaku o koverau mene o buo baoru.	Two koverau bamboos for two bamboo frames.
(18)	Mosi amaa koverau vai amaa manoto vamataa.	Cut fully matured koverau bamboos.
(19)	Vaaraka vamatai tea roava.	Let them thoroughly dry in the sun.
(20)	Taraha taatagi amaa koverau bona.	Carefully level the outside of these koverau bamboos (i.e. the knots).
(21)	(2) O buaku o toorana toro mosi maa. Vaarakai tea roava.	The two toorana poles must be cut. Let them dry in the sun.
(22)	(3) Mosi maa o miimiana mene o buaku o sunsun.	Cut a miimiana palm for the two sunsun poles.
(23)	Vaarakai mee tea roava.	Let it also dry in the sun.
(24)	(4) Mosi a vahara baneo, kahu a kapa nae, vaatei tea roava ore raka.	Cut young breadfruit trees, scrape off the bark, put them into the sun to dry.
(25)	Be raka, hihi a kara nae mene paku bona kanono.	When they are dry, pull their fibres off to make the string.
(26)	Bean rake, ean repaa kurus kara kave maa rasuu.	If you want, you cut net vines in the jungle.
(27)	Vaarakai tea roava, ean repaa kahue bona kehaa.	Let them dry in the sun, and then you scrape them with a seashell.
(28)	Ean repaa paku a kanono mene huha bona kakavei.	Then you make the string for tying the kakavei net.
(29)	(5) Tasu varaba maa a raviana rasuu.	Cut the raviana vines in advance in the jungle.
(30)	Vaarakai tea roava bean siri kopaa varaba batae.	Let them dry in the sun after you have torn them lengthwise apart.

(31)	(6) O kapikapis: Amaa ta naono vaarii na taraha vakavara raara mene kapis bona maa pampam na kakavei.	The wedges: we carve all these pieces of wood to wedge them into the lashings of the kakavei net.
(32)	Taraha vaantee eta kukan totoka to antee nana bona buaku a kakavei.	Carve eight pieces which will be enough for the two kakavei nets.
(33)	(7) Vaamatatopo varaba a tavara.	Prepare the tavara (piece of wood for measuring the meshes of a net).
(34)	(8) Vaamatatopo varaba o koverau o rutaa mene o hihiana.	Prepare a small piece of koverau bamboo in advance for the net needle.
(35)	Vaamatatopo a kanono	Prepare the string
(36)	O hum kiu vai na beera oha vareko nana.	This part of the work is quite labour intensive.
(37)	Ean kahi tagihu nom rasuu tea kurus kave.	You go into the jungle to cut net-vines.
(38)	O kave na abeabe batana tea naono, saka tei vananaoana vira haana me.	The net vine is creeping on the trees, it is also not very far away.
(39)	Bean suguna koa to abe vaberobero riori,	When you have arrived where they are creeping in large quantities,
(40)	ean repaa saku koa tea kurus, ean repaa voosu vahaa koa.	you just quickly cut them, and then you go back home.
(41)	Bean voosu me amaa dee kave, pasi vaobete roho noman,	When you come home with loads of net-vines, you first lay them down,
(42)	eve re meapa roho.	so that they become flexible.
(43)	Beve meapa, ean repaa hihi manae,	When they are flexible, you eventually remove the fibres from them,
(44)	ean repaa kahu batae mee.	then you also scrape them.
(45)	Bean kahu vakavarae,	When you have completely scraped them,
(46)	ean repaa varoava e ore raka.	you put them into the sun to dry.

(47) Be raka vamataa, ean repaa viru a kanono tean.
When they have dried up well, you twist your string.

(48) A kanono bona to kahi huha noman bona kakavei tean.
This string (is the one) that you are going to tie your kakavei net with.

(49) A kanono toro antee bona buaku a kakavei a bua vapara.
The string must be (long) enough for the pair of kakavei-nets.

(50) Huha kakavei
Tying kakavei-nets

(51) Bea maa taba vai matatopo, ean antee vai tea huha a kave.
When these things are prepared, you can now tie the net.

(52) A taba to pasi paku noman, ei a kanono vai to kahi huha noman bona buaku a kave.
The thing that you will make, this is the string that you use for tying the two nets.

(53) A kanono bona pasi vaabebeahu kurus noman ore antee bona buaku a kave.
You will make this string very long so that it is long enough for the two nets.

(54) A meha kanono to kahi paku noman, ei a roveana.
Another string that you'll make is the roveana.

(55) A roveana eve a kanono to taviri vakavara nana bona kave.
The roveana is the string that surrounds the whole net as a seam.[5]

(56) A kanono bona ge a roveana to rahi parata nana bona kave teo vuri to nove noman a kakavei.
This string or roveana pulls the net open when you tie the kakavei net to the frame.

(57) Bea bua kanono vai kavara, ean matatopo vai tea paku a sinoo na kave.
When the two strings are finished, you are prepared to make the frame of the net.

(58) A kanono tean a matatopo,
Your string is prepared,

(59) ean viru vai a kanono tea hihiana.
you now wind the string now around the net needle.

(60) Ean gono vai a tavara.
You get the tavara (to measure the size of the meshes).

(61) A sinoo na kave: vatotomo na maa humhum na kakavei
The frame of the net: putting the parts of the kakavei net together

[5]Compare Chapter 27, Figure 1.

(62)	A maamihu taba paa vaamatatopo vaevuru, a kakavei kahi vatotomo raarai.	Everything is aready prepared, we will put the kakavei net together now.
(63)	(1) Gono o toorana bara o sunsun, pampam vabuaku ri bona kara raviana.	Get the toorana pole and the sunsun pole, tie them together with two lashings of the raviana strings.
(64)	(2) Gono o baoru, pam mi nai bono pasu no toorana.	Get a bamboo pole, lash it together with the end of the torana-pole.
(65)	Pam i bona kara raviana (a buaku a pam).	Lash them together with the raviana strings (two lashings).
(66)	(3) Tasu vakikis amaa pampam bona maa kapikapis.	Firmly tighten the lashings with the wedges.
(67)	Teo peho sinoo tapa ni o dorana o hum.	Drive four pieces (i.e. wedges) into the lashings of one frame.
(68)	Be kavara, o sinoo paa matatopo vaevuru.	When it is finished, the frame is already prepared.
(69)	(4) Nove a kakavei.	Tie the kakavei net to the frame.
(70)	Vuri nove na kakavei	Steps of tying the kakavei net to its frame
(71)	(1) Vakisi nio pasu kave teo pasu no baoru.	Tie an edge of the net to the end of the bamboo pole.
(72)	(2) Vakisi nio meho teo sunsun.	Tie another (edge) to the sunsun pole.
(73)	(3) Vakisi nio meho pasu kave romuno baoru.	Tie the third edge of the net to the middle of the bamboo pole.
(74)	(4) Vakisi nio vakosina teo toorana.	Tie the end of net to the toorana pole.
(75)	A kakavei paa taparata vamataa vaevuru.	The kakavei has now already properly unfolded.
(76)	Bean toku, tara teo vaa'abeabe na kakavei gina.	If you do not understand it, look at the picture of the kakavei above.
