Chapter 30

Varigomo – A kind of net fishing at low tide

Enoch Horai Magum

Figure 1: Varigomo – Net-fishing at low tide

(1)	A varigomo, eove o peho kaku vagana vaa Teapu to paku raara bona kave.	Varigomo is a kind of fishing in the Teop area that we do with a net.
(2)	A kave nae he a bebeahu ae a mata rutaa.	The net used for it is long and has small meshes.

Enoch Horai Magum. 2026. Varigomo – a kind of net fishing at low tide. In Ulrike Mosel (ed.), The material culture of the Teop people of Bougainville, 207–209. Berlin: Language Science Press. DOI: 10.5281/zenodo.22880288

(3)	O kaku vagana bona na pakupaku raara teo gohoho ge teo tarahi, ei tea maa hana taataana, sa ei haana namana.	We do this kind of fishing during the incoming tide or the ebbing tide, this means at places where we can walk, this is not in the deep ocean.
(4)	O kaku vagana bona sa vaapenapena haana, beo aba o bero nao, evehee a bero amaa vuri, o kukan koa o sinivi to tahoa rori.	This kind of fishing does not forbid that many people go, but most of the time it is only three canoes that set off.
(5)	O peho sinivi to vaahae nana bona kave mi bona kukan a aba, a buaku vaa tea vavaagunaha kave, a peha he a too horohoro.	One canoe takes the net with three people on board, two for letting the net down, and one person is the punter.
(6)	O meho buo sinivi he mene vahakaa.	But the two other canoes have to beat the water to chase the fish into the net.
(7)	O kaku vagana nae he na paku vonaen:	The fishing is done as follows:
(8)	Beara hua batara, eara toro tara bata naora beo iana an rori.	While we are paddling along, we look where the fish eat.
(9)	Bea too horohoro sue voen na mataa nana, eara repaa hua vahuus o pata iana bari.	When the punter says, it is good, we paddle close to that school of fish.
(10)	A peha aba repaa gunaha me bono peho punete kave.	Then one person goes down with one edge of the net.
(11)	O sinivi repaa hua taviri bono pata iana, bea meha aba rurun gunaha bata ni nana bona kave.	The canoe then paddles around the school of fish, while the other man is dropping the net along the way.
(12)	O meho buo sinivi he paa taneo vaevuru tea vahakaa, o meho tea papa matau, o meho he tea papa keruka.	The other two canoes have already started to beat the water, one on the right side, the other one on the left side.
(13)	Pasi vatete maari bono pata iana, ore vatete hovo komana kave.	They will chase the school of fish, and they chase them into the net.
(14)	Bea bua too vavaagunaha kave rahi vatatana bata ni rori bono buo punete kave, eori repaa asun bona iana en komana kave.	When the two net-droppers pull the two edges of the net together, they kill the fish inside the net.

(15) Amaa aba vai to sa paa hana hau tea maa mata kave, kahi tahitahi ri vuara bona makaree.
Those that have not been caught in the meshes of the net, we will spear with the fishing spear.

(16) Amaa aba vai he to paa hanau teo mata kave na asun ri raara bono popoura.
But those that hang in the meshes of the net, we kill them with the baton.

(17) Be kavara, eara repaa vaahae vahabana a kave, eara repaa nao pete teo meho hum vai to anan bata rio iana.
After that we take the net again on board and go to another place where the fish eat.

(18) A vaakavara vagana na tei bata koana tea masi ge beo gohoho beera oha maa, eara repaa voosu vaha vaan.
The end of the fishing trip is when it is low tide and when the incoming tide is too big; then we go home, back to the village.

Figure 2: Makaree – Fishing spear

Figure 3: Popoura – Baton