Ana suva – Fish poisoning roots

Helen Kobaa Magum, Shalom Magum & Joyce Maion

(1)	Enaa kahi vahutate ni nom havee to suvasuva vaavaha vo raara,	I am going to describe how we poison fish,
(2)	beara suvasuva nio ana suva.	when we poison fish with the suva root, the poisonous root.
(3)	Beara tau nao tea suvasuva, eara toro matatopo amaa taba to pasi dee raara.	Before we go to poison fish, we must prepare the things that we will take there.
(4)	Momohu eara na tagihu rara rasuu,	First we go into the forest.
(5)	Eara repaa kasi amaa ana suva en to neba komana raara e.	We dig out the suva roots where we plant them.
(6)	Eara repaa dee voosu vaan,	Then we carry them home to the village,
(7)	eara repaa ihuana koa rara vaan beara sisira rara o tarahi vaa tea roava ge tea bon.	and just wait in the village, while we observe the ebbing tide during the day or the night.
(8)	Beara tara voen, a masi na mataa nana tea suvasuva,	When we see that the reef is good for fish poisoning,
(9)	eara repaa vaobete a ana suva teo hoi, bara a vasu.	we put the suva roots into a basket, and a stone.
(10)	Eara repaa kae eve vo tea masi.	Then we carry it to the reef.
(11)	Beara suguna tea kopua to pasi suva ni raara,	When we arrive at the pool that we intend to poison,

(12)	eara repaa vahio o hoi ana suva.	we put the basket with the suva roots down.
(13)	Eara repaa taneo tea tasu varavu-ravu a ana suva bona vasu.	Then we start beating and squashing the suva roots with the stone.
(14)	Tasu batara, eara repaa peo komana kopua, bara amaa vavaarihi nae.	We beat them and then scatter them in the pool and along its sides.
(15)	Saka o peho ana haana to tasu raara,	It is not a single root that we beat,
(16)	a bero, ore suguna komana beo iana bubuutoo tavusu maa tea maa avaava vasu vaa komana kopua.	it is many, until the fish struggle out of the rocky caves in the pool.
(17)	Beara tara voen, eara repaa antee tea tasu a ana suva.	When we see this, we stop beating the suva roots.
(18)	Eara repaa avete o iana vai to paa mateu.	Then we collect the fish that have died.
(19)	Beara avete vakavara, eara repaa tara voen o iana paa kavarau,	When we have finished collecting the fish and see that the fish are finished,
(20)	eara repaa nao pete tea rake ta meha kopua.	we move on to search for another pool.
